Fog Faces Hughes On Alaskan Hop

Widow's Greeting—When Howard Hughes sets his globe girdling plane down at Fairbanks, Alaska, Mrs. Wiley Post, widow of the flyer whose 'round-the-world record he is trying to beat, will be there to greet him. Post was killed in crash with Will Rogers at Juneau, Alaska, three years ago.

YAKUTSK, Siberia, July 13 (AP)—Howard Hughes took off for Fairbanks, Alaska, at 9:01 p. m. tonight (8:01 a. m., Boston time) on the fifth leg of his attempt to set a new record for round the world flight.

Hughes Due Back in N. Y. Tomorrow

NEW YORK, July 13 (INS)—Howard Hughes and his four companions are expected back at Floyd Bennett Field in their huge monoplane tomorrow afternoon. Estimates of the time he'll arrive in New York vary from 2 to 8 o'clock. Some 50 U. S. marines have been ordered to aid police with the huge throng expected to greet Hughes.

Stocks Spurt, Then Hesitate

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—The stock market took another brisk stride forward today, then paused as if to consolidate its gains.

Earlier rises averaging fractions to about $3 a share. Most extensive in the leading industrial issues, were pared down moderately before the close.

The American airman and his four companions had remained at Yakutsk only two hours and 53 minutes after completing their 2177-mile hop from Omsk, western Siberia.

Hughes planned to make Yakutsk his last stop in Soviet Russian territory. He plotted a course of 2456 miles to Fairbanks, across the northeastern tip of Siberia and the Bering Sea.

However, preparations for an emergency landing had been made at Anadyrsk in case of necessity.

John Barrymore's Mansion For Sale

HOLLYWOOD, July 13 (AP)—John Barrymore's 40-room mansion on Tower road, with artistic odds and ends from all over the world, bears a "for sale" sign today.

THE WEATHER

Fair, warmer today; showers likely tomorrow. Report on Page 2.

The plane is expected to reach Fairbanks at 8 p. m., Boston time, and would be ready to take off again for New York two hours later.

If Hughes is able to maintain such a schedule, he will return to his starting place about noon tomorrow, less than four days since they started eastward across the Atlantic.

Hops For Alaska

Reports of good weather were received from points as far as the Bering Strait, but fog and rain were reported on the Alaskan side.

Hughes' flight headquarters on the World's Fair Grounds, New York, announced receipt of a message sent from the plane at 8:22 a. m., E. S. T., giving its position as 64 north latitude, 137.05 east longitude, over the Cherski mountains, or about 300 miles east of Yakutsk.

(The message, picked up and relayed by the United States army signal corps station at Seattle, Wash., said the plane was flying at an altitude of 6200 feet.)

FAIR AHEAD OF RECORD

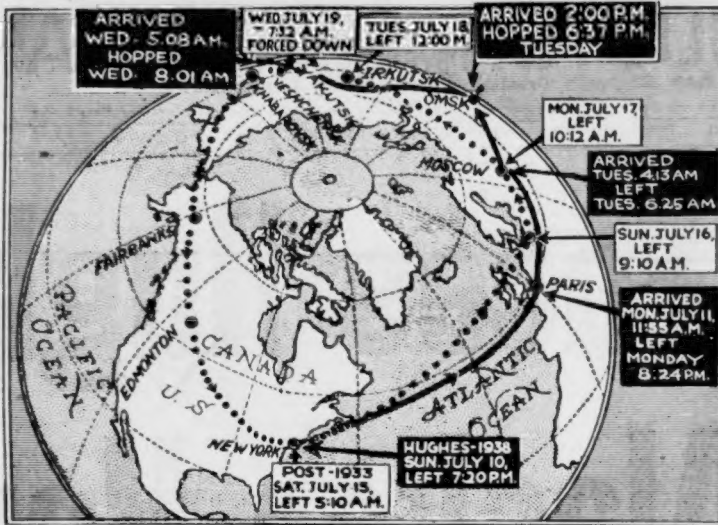

Leaving Yakutsk just 60 hours and 41 minutes after their take-off from New York and with two-thirds of the flight completed, Hughes and his companions were far ahead of the time of the late Wiley Post, who girdled the globe alone in seven days, 18 hours, 49 minutes in 1933.

Asadyrsk is a little more than 1400 miles northeast of Yakutsk. From there the direct route to Fairbanks would take Hughes close to the narrowest part of the Bering strait, where only 60 miles of water separates Soviet and American territory. The district between Yakutsk and Bering strait, however, is one of the wildest parts of Siberia.

ENDS FOURTH LEG

Hughes had landed his big monoplane at Yakutsk at 6:08 p. m. (5:08 a. m., Boston time) ending the fourth leg of his flight.

The weary aviator immediately snatched a brief rest, afterwards announcing he would take off

Hughes' Log (in Black) vs Wiley Post's Record (light boxes)

COMPARISON—Map shows Hughes far ahead in his 'round-the-world race against the record of 7 days, 18 hours and 49 minutes set by Wiley Post. The dotted line and black figures in white boxes show Post's schedule. The solid line and white figures in black boxes show Hughes' progress.

again "in two or three hours."

The weather was fair. At Omak Hughes was greeted warmly by representatives of the regional Soviet executive committee and newspapermen. In a brief interview he said it had rained heavily between Kurgan and Omak. He flew at an altitude of more than 9000 feet.

Hughes and his four companions landed here just 57 hours 48 minutes after their takeoff from New York.

DASH THROUGH RAIN

The dash here from Omak was made at more than 200 miles an hour, much of it through adverse weather. Rain was encountered soon after leaving Omak.

Hughes and his companions had lifted their silvery monoplane from the airport at Omak at 4:37 a. m. (6:37 p. m., Tuesday, Boston time).

The takeoff from Omak started the fliers into the second half of their 14,729-mile trip back to New York, which they left Sunday night. Four hours after they left here they passed over Krasnoyarsk 800 miles out.

Seven hours out, Hughes reported his position north of Lake Baikal, 1500 miles from Omak. His top speed had been 210 miles an hour, and his altitude was 11,600 feet. He asked by radio for more precise data on conditions over mountain ranges along his route, where no emergency landing fields would be available in the event of mishap.

MORE STOPS FOR POST

Post, in his tour, ended his flight across Siberia at Khabarovsk, 8967 miles out of New York in 67 hours and 10 minutes. His trip to that point was made in seven hops.

Hughes at Omak in three hops was 6696 miles out in 42 hours and 49 minutes. The distance to Yakutsk made it 887 miles.

'Huey Long Plan' Urged

A "Huey Long style" of government for Massachusetts was advocated by Senator Joseph Langone, Democrat, of Boston, in support of Governor Hurley's proposed $4,000,000-for-highways work relief program today.

"You've got to have a Huey Long style of doing business," Langone told the legislature's joint ways and means committee. "Don't worry about the taxpayer's leagues. They don't worry about the unemployed."

Norman McDonald, executive director of the Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, had just spoken, attacking as unsound the Governor's plan to give the Public Works Department $4,000,000 for highway construction, and then divert another $4,000,000 from gasoline taxes to the general fund for state expenses.

It would mean Massachusetts would lose $1,000,000 in federal aid, MacDonald argued. Governor Hurley, on the other hand, contends this loss would be more than offset by reductions in state tax.

Public Works Commissioner William Callahan told the committee the plan is, if the $4,000,000 is forthcoming, to spread the work on small jobs. A total of 5000 men would be given employment, he said. The $4,000,000, it was brought out, would be sufficient to give these 5000 men employment for 100 days.

N. Y. Solons Favor School Aid for All

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—Authorization of public funds for health and welfare services of denominational school children, long sought by Catholic groups, was favored unanimously today by a committee of the state constitutional convention.

A proposed amendment authorizing such services will be reported to the convention floor for debate with another already before the convocation designed to permit equal transportation facilities for all school children.

Leahy-Lyons Tiff Win 2 Praise

Still under fire for his "arrest-week" order applying to all uniformed officers of his department, Chief of Police Timothy F. Leahy today pointedly commended two patrolmen who have been reduced by Mayor John M. Lyons from their former rank as inspectors.

At the same time, Leahy charged that some officers, even on busy beats, have gone as long as 18 months without making an arrest. It was to "jack up" such members of the force that he issued the order requiring at least one arrest a week by each man, he said.

Pending a conference with Mayor Lyons, Chief Leahy refused to comment directly on the mayor's critical letter characterizing his "arrest-week" ukase as savoring of "Hitlerism."

Chief Leahy selected for public commendation Patrolmen Thomas E. Carroll and Timothy J. Mooney.

MULLAY IN RACE

James H. Mullay of 48 Gardena street, Brighton, Boston business man, today filed nomination papers as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives from the 22nd Suffolk District.

Queen Mother Sails to Tower As Tudors Did

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—Thousands of persons gathered along the banks of the Thames and cheered today as Queen Mother Mary made a "royal progress" down the river from Westminster to the ancient tower of London to attend a charity garden party.

Upon her arrival at the tower the queen disembarked from the royal launch at the famous "Queen's Stairs." It was the first time a queen had used the stairs in more than 400 years, the last time being when Tudor Queen Elizabeth ascended them on July 10, 1561.

Subsequent monarchs always have made state drives through the city when visiting the tower.

Post's Widow Waits

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 13 (AP)—Fair weather, Mrs. Wiley Post and an excited city were ready today to greet Howard Hughes, flying sportsman, on his world-girdling flight.

Civic officials, headed by Mayor Leslie Nerland, labored shoulder to shoulder with airport workers in marking out the much-used field anew and preparing it for the big silver monoplane.

The weather bureau promised continued clear, warm weather, which should improve from the Bering Sea area eastward here and into interior Alaska.

MRS. POST ON SCENE

A "moderately low ceiling" over the sea and near Nome, 500 miles west of here, should give way to a high ceiling and broken clouds, Weather Observer R. L. Frost said.

By a coincidence, Mrs. Post, who left Lubbock, Texas, several weeks ago on a trip to Barrow, Alaska, to dedicate a memorial there to her late husband and Will Rogers, arrived here during the night from Juneau by plane.

It is Post's world-circling record Hughes seeks to better.

CROWDS UP EARLY

An air-minded city—air travel is the most common means of transportation in Alaska—Fairbanks became more excited as Hughes' plane neared. In the 24-hour daylight, hundreds began moving toward the airport at an early hour.

Mrs. Post is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cronson and Mr. and Mrs. Don Gustafson. Cronson, noted Alaska ace, flew the bodies of Post and Rogers south from Barrow to Seattle after their deaths three years ago.

Boston Widow Presented at Court

Mrs. Jaffray de Hautville-Bell of Boston, widow of an Englishman, was presented at the British court in Buckingham Palace last night, according to cables from London today.

Mrs. de Hautville-Bell lives at 16 Commonwealth avenue. She is the former Miss Louise Thompson. Her first husband was Albert Whittier, wealthy Boston real estate man. After his death she married de Hautville-Bell in Denver, Colo.

SALLY RAND
Goes Camera-Shy

Shy Sally Rand Socks Camera Fiends Stealing Snapshots

LOS ANGELES, July 13 (INS).—Sally Rand, the fan dancer, was at open war with candid camera fans today.

Using her fists, she ran two of them out of a theater here.

Sally also destroyed films of pictures the candid camera artists had taken while she danced, sans clothing, behind bubbles on the stage.

Miss Rand was doing her famous bubble dance when she spotted the two camera fans in the front row. As soon as she completed her number, Sally throw some clothes over the Rand curves, sallied to the front row, and demanded the amateur photographers surrender the films.

The latter refused and started retreating up the aisle. Sally followed flailing them with her fists. Finally, she cornered them in the lobby and managed to expose the films.

All the while, angry words were exchanged.

But Sally may not have heard the last of it. Her victims, Hazel Drain, 22, and Ray Stanford, 26, retained an attorney and threatened legal suits.

Lauds Harvard Movie Course

Special to Boston Evening American

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13 (INS).

Dr. Dixon Ryan Fox, president of Union College, Schenectady, discussing Harvard's plan to establish a motion-picture course, said today:

"I find it interesting that the study of motion pictures as an art technique has extended to the post-graduate field. This curricular promotion of the movies appears to me to be a natural development of what has been occurring at colleges and universities.

"For example, Columbia University for some time has offered a course in cinema art, specialized enough to attract graduate students.

"I believe Harvard is showing the proper academic attitude in preparing to include the study of present-day movies in the curriculum of the graduate school of design next fall."

King George Shows Improvement

WINDSOR, Eng., July 13 (AP)

It was officially stated at Windsor Castle today that King George's condition continued to improve under the care of the royal physicians who are treating him for an attack of gastric influenza.

Boy Drowns as Woman, Clothed, Dives to Rescue

In spite of heroic efforts of a Stoneham housewife, who dived fully clad to his rescue, eight-year-old Charles Pattie of Franklin street, Stoneham, drowned today in Buckman's pond, just off the Fellaway Reservation.

Playmates said the boy jumped off a springboard into water that was deeper than he thought.

Unable to swim, he struggled and sank.

First to go to his aid was Barbara Manley, 12, of Stoneham, who was bathing nearby. She dived but couldn't bring the boy to the surface.

Meantime, other children ran to the nearby home of Mrs. Marion G. Leslie, 34, of Pond street, Stoneham.

She dashed to the scene and plunged off the springboard.

After several attempts, she found the body and got it ashore.

Bridal Mixup

SUNBURY, Pa., July 13 (AP)

The wedding of Harry M. Frey of Millersville and Vera Duke of Washington, Pa., did more than make them husband and wife, Frey's brother-in-law became his father-in-law, while the bride's step-mother became her sister-in-law. The answer: Frey's father is married to the bride's sister.

Love Amid Spuds Fun for Bride, 16

MRS. ANNA MAY BOUTALL
Honeymoon Trip Must Wait

ATHOL, July 13.—Sleeves rolled up, dressed in new overalls, 63-year-old Herbert David Boutall and his child-bride, Anna May, 16, fussed over their chickens today, sprayed potato plants and thought little of gay times.

Boutall and the pretty Petersham schoolgirl went out on the farm shortly after dawn.

Anna May cooked a breakfast of five scrambled eggs for her husband while she had bananas and cream and prepared a "special roast" for dinner.

"Honeymoon? Sure, we'll have a grand one," said Boutall. "But look at all the things we have to do to get our little house in order!"

"The bugs are in the potatoes, the crops have to be watched. We'll celebrate next fall."

The little bride said it was "grand to be up at dawn."

"What fun to be in love," she laughed. "We had such fun at Worcester last night!"

"What fun to be in love!" echoed her husband.

Mind Bets Aid Death Vigil

CHICAGO, July 13 (INS)—John Henry Seadlund, doomed to die in the electric chair shortly after midnight tonight for the kidnap-murder of Charles Ross, wealthy Chicago manufacturer, was spending his last hours on earth today making imaginary bets on horse races—unmindful that it was betting that betrayed him to G-men.

Seadlund was arrested Jan. 14 at the betting window of the Santa Anita race track in California as he tried to wager some of the $50,000 ransom and has recently placed imaginary 50-cent bets every day, it was disclosed.

South Shore Rail Changes as Stations Shut

Advance information on the new timetables to become effective Sunday on the Old Colony division was given out at the offices of the New Haven Railroad today.

Ninety-three stations, 88 of them in Massachusetts, 5 in Rhode Island, are to be abandoned in accordance with a court order obtained last week.

Some of the changes in service will be as follows:

BOSTON TO BRAINTREE—There will be 51 week-day trains from Boston to Braintree instead of 50, and 50 week-day trains from Braintree to Boston instead of 48.

SOUTH BRAINTREE—Eighteen trains to Boston instead of 33 as at present; 22 trains from Boston instead of 32.

BRAINTREE CHANGES

Three trains which formerly terminated at Braintree will now run to South Braintree. These are trains leaving Boston at 10:35 a. m., 12:35 p. m. and 9:35 p. m. (D.S.T.).

To Boston, the train formerly leaving Braintree at 1:24 p. m., now will leave South Braintree at 1:22 p. m. The train heretofore leaving Braintree at 6:44 p. m. now will start from South Braintree at 6:50 p. m.

Two new trains to South Braintree will leave Boston at 8:15 a. m. and 1:18 p. m. One new train for Boston will leave South Braintree at 1:11 p. m.

Boston to Braintree new week-day trains will be 7:20 a. m., 8:35 a. m., 9:20 a. m., and 9:45 p. m. Braintree to Boston, new trains: 10:49 a. m., 3:18 p. m., 5:25 p. m., 8:18 p. m., 10:47 p. m., and 11:32 p. m.

OTHER CHANGES

WEST QUINCY BRANCH: 7:02 a. m. train to Boston discontinued. BRAINTREE - HINGHAM-GREENBUSH: 6:05 a. m., 5:02 p. m. and 5:20 p. m. trains from Boston for Nantasket Junction discontinued; 5:22 a. m. and 4 p. m. train from Greenbush discontinued.

7:45 a. m. trains from Nantasket Junction and 8:39 a. m. train from Hingham, both discontinued. The round-trip Boston to Provincetown Saturdays, returning Sundays, is eliminated.

The railroad expects to have new timetables ready tomorrow.

Mrs. Guy W. Cox Dies in Hospital

PITTSFIELD, N. H., July 13 (AP)—Mrs. Edith M. Cox, wife of Guy W. Cox, president of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, died today in a Concord hospital. She underwent an operation a week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox had been summer residents of Pittsfield 10 years. Mrs. Cox leaves a son by a former marriage, Charles Faine of Weston, and a daughter, Mrs. Julia Parker of Marshfield.

Fine B. C. Professor As Illegal Driver

Rene J. Marcou, 32, of Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, professor of mathematics at Boston College, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 in Quincy court today on a charge of driving after revocation of license. Motor Vehicles Inspector Alfred Little testified he stopped Marcou on the night of July 6 for driving with only one light. He said he learned Marcou had lost his license in 1932 in Cambridge for operating so as to endanger and that he was driving a Massachusetts registered car with a Maine license.

End Charlestown Vote Fraud Quiz

The Suffolk county grand jury completed its investigation today of alleged vote frauds in Charlestown during the last election.

After an hour's deliberation the jurors voted. The result of the vote, either indictments or no bill, will be announced tomorrow.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor —dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new. Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities. Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT
Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put a few drops in 1/2 glass of water. Add a little Polident powder—1/2 to 10 to 15 minutes—then—and it's away—and polished—ready to use!

Deal Spending 24 Million Per Day in Drive

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The government stepped up its spending pace today to the record peacetime average of $24,890,000 a day ordered by President Roosevelt.

This is $3,613,000 a day more than last year's average.

The President revised his January budget estimates for the fiscal year which began July 1 in order to account for the emergency relief and public works programs. He calculated the treasury would collect only $5 for every $9 it spent, piling up a deficit of about $4,000,000,000.

For relief alone, he said, $2,135,000,000 would be needed—enough to support 3,900,000 persons on WPA rolls until next spring.

He indicated a belief that business would improve enough to taper off the relief load in March.

He estimated, however, that $500,000,000 must be voted by Congress to carry relief expenditures from March 1 to next July 1. It appropriated funds for only the first eight months of the fiscal year.

Salient estimates in the revised budget broke many records, including:

Public Debt—To rise from current $37,500,000,000 to all-time high of $40,650,000,000 by June 30, 1939.

Expenditures—To increase $1,119,000,000 above last year's figure to record peacetime total of $9,963,157,600.

Receipts—To decrease $1,241,000,000 from last year's total to $5,000,778,000.

Nickel Saturday At Norumbega

Saturday, July 16, is another Boston American Nickel Day at Norumbega Park, Auburndale.

Special low prices on all attractions, rides and many refreshments will be available to readers who clip and use the Nickel Day coupons which appear in FRIDAY'S Boston American.

Each coupon, when presented at the ticket window or stand specified, will be redeemed as part of the regular price of admission.

Coupons will be good from 11 a. m. until 3 p. m., on Saturday, July 16, on the Launch Rides, Merry-Go-Round, Caterpillar, Dodgem, Sea-planes, Lady Loop, Venetian Swings, Sky Rail Games, Crystal Maze, Ferris Wheel and Tumble Bug. Many of the coupons will be redeemable for sandwiches and other refreshments.

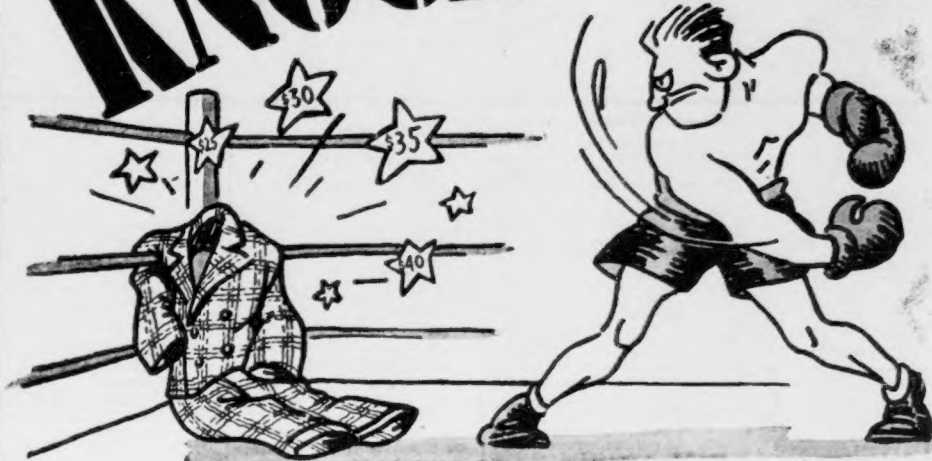

Take your family for a holiday—enjoy Nickel Day at Norumbega Saturday. A handful of nickels will pay for your day's fun.

Mother Forgives Killers of Youth

CONCORD, N. H., July 13 (AP)—The grief-stricken mother of Maurice Cahill, 26-year-old dance band leader, killed by a policeman's bullet, today urged that no action be taken against two cruising car officers who fired at the young man Sunday.

Cahill was killed, the official police report said, when he failed to heed the commands of the officers to halt as he ran from a house near which a prowler had been reported.

Can Wealth Secure Happiness for a Great Length of Time?

Babs Buys a Prince

"Adela Rogers St. Johns, noted screen and fiction writer, has written the "behind the headlines" story of Barbara Hutton, Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow. To Miss St. Johns the young heiress confided her hopes and plans. Today's installment tells how Prince Alexis Mdivani followed her halfway around the world to finally win her hand—and her millions.

By ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHAPTER FIVE

"I will give her three years of hell with headlines."

That, quoting the testimony given in a London court by Barbara Hutton's counsel, was one of the threats made by Barbara's husband, the Danish Count Haugwitz-Reventlow.

The same testimony included the statement that the count demanded $5,000,000 to free Barbara and allow her to keep her son.

None of it makes nice reading. But the one about "Hell with headlines" is particularly tough because Barbara has already experienced a good deal of that special brand of hell.

In the past, it was partly her own fault. This time, those who know the inside story and are close to Barbara, don't seem to think it is.

The first real scorching came when she married Mdivani. Up to that time she'd been a bit of a problem child, but she was our own and it was all pretty easy to understand.

The average American shrugged philosophical shoulders and said:

"Oh, well, pick up any sixteen-year-old girl you know and hand her fifty million dollars and she'd probably go a little haywire."

PRINCE GETS DIVORCE

But when the news of a possible marriage between Barbara Hutton and Alexis Mdivani began to drift over the cables, there was a very definite change.

LOUISE VAN ALLEN
Quit the Prince

On November 15, 1932, London newspapers printed:

"It is understood that the betrothal of Barbara Hutton and the Prince Alexis Mdivani is all but ready to be announced."

"Before the engagement can be anything but tea-table gossip, Prince Alexis must obtain his divorce from Louise Astor van Allen, whose socially prominent family is said to be arranging the matter."

The divorce was obtained by Louise at the Hague on November 29.

Again the front pages commented:

"The decree Louise got furthered Alexis' plans to marry Barbara Hutton."

Then, without warning, Barbara picked up her extensive wardrobe and sailed for home to spend Christmas. No sooner had she landed on American soil than she wired Mdivani not to join her as they had planned.

But he came anyway and she refused to see him.

That was almost, the end of the Mdivani affair right there and then.

For Barbara had come home to face an infuriated family, and a public reaction to the proposed marriage that both shocked and frightened her.

KIN OPPOSE MATCH

Even her Aunt Jessie, even her favorite cousin, Jimmy Donohue, were against such a marriage. It simply, they said, couldn't be.

She had, as I happen to know, one last scene with the American boy with whom she was almost in love.

No one, of course, knows exactly what happened, exactly what they said to each other. But it isn't very difficult to imagine.

The boy, just starting his career, with a small executive job, heart-broken but steadfast in his refusal to marry the richest girl he would ever know.

Barbara, probably ready at one moment to give up everything for him, and then realizing that it couldn't be done.

So they parted.

Barbara listened to her father, who spoke plainly and harshly enough about the marriage of rich American girls to penniless foreigners.

In the midst of it all, Barbara walked out on all of them. She sailed for the land she loved so deeply, the place where, as she once told me, she always seemed to find peace—China and the Orient, the Far East, the strange and beautiful places that always soothed her troubled heart and her jangled nerves.

I think, when she sailed, she had decided not to marry Mdivani.

"I didn't know," she said to me, "that Alexis had planned ever since he first met me, when I was only fifteen, to marry me when I grew up."

She sailed alone, and in the quiet days at sea, she tried to see into the future. Her future. What was she going to do now?

She wanted to marry. She needed a husband, a companion, someone to help her found a life and family of her very own—needed it much more than most girls ever do.

But whom was she to marry? She had learned some bitter facts about what it meant to have $50,000,000. The average American man wouldn't think of marrying her, with all that money.

American men weren't geared to that kind of marriage. It wouldn't work. Phil Plant, the only man she had cared for who had enough money so that money didn't matter, had proved a failure as a possible husband.

He was, after all, just a playboy and the truth was that Barbara was a little tired of playing.

Her loneliness grew, as the days went by. She felt a little panicky. She was only 20 and in the past four years she had found out a great deal about loneliness. She had found out that playing around with crowds didn't satisfy her.

MDIVANI JOINS HER

As a matter of fact, her play time was over and she knew it. She wanted something more from life than this.

Probably no one in the world knew better than Alexis Mdivani what Babs Hutton was thinking as she sailed alone across the sea. He had made it his business to know.

He knew she was spoiled, but he knew, that she was very lonely.

He joined her in Bangkok—romantic, oriental, glamorous. She had been alone for three months.

And there, quietly, gently, as had been his wont with her always, he laid before her his plan for life for them both.

"I just thought," said Barbara Hutton, speaking of it to me long afterwards, "I just thought we would be happy together. He would have leisure to do the one thing I wanted to do most—travel."

"I trusted him. I came to think it would be a lovely thing to marry your best friend."

"I believed he cared for the same things I did, that he was fond of me, that we would always be kind to each other."

Something like that he must have said to her, gently, persuasively, under a Siamese moon, far away from realities and trials.

She had found out, hadn't she, that she couldn't marry an American and live the life she wanted to live? She wanted someone who would help her to enjoy life, show her how to live it, carry out her plans with her.

European men of his class had been brought up to believe in the dowry system. It had been in force in his country and all countries around him for generations.

A man of his race need feel no shame at marrying a woman with a great deal of money. He gave her his title, his protection, his companionship, his place in the world.

Something like that he must have said to her. Quietly honestly facing the money question—showing her the only way out.

I remember once that Pola Negri

BARBARA HUTTON
Rich, But Lonely

ALEXIS MDIVANI
Cashes on Cupid

explained to me why she married Serge Mdivani so soon after the death of Rudy Valentino, whom she had loved so madly.

"Serge," she said, "is so gentle and tender. He knows I will never love anyone but Rudy. He consoles me so beautifully when my heart is breaking."

That, as far as I can find out, was the secret of the Mdivani charm. To listen—to console—to find out the thing a woman needed and wanted and give it to her. A difficult thing to understand.

That night in Bangkok he cashed in on it.

From Bangkok they sailed together—Barbara and Alexis—through strange and beautiful lands, in a spring time that was sweet and gentle, and Barbara sat on the deck, her hand in Alexis', and she didn't feel lonely—she had her best friend, forever.

From Singapore they announced their engagement.

"I think Prince Mdivani will know how to help me spend my money, will know how to live and how to help me enjoy life," said Barbara Hutton at that time.

When they arrived in Paris, Franklin Hutton awaited them. He had been graceful in defeat. But plainly he was not happy and plainly he would have done much to persuade Barbara against this marriage, even now.

But it was too late. Alexis Mdivani had left him no opening. He had spoken frankly and openly of money. Life was not marrying Barbara for her money, but since she had it he expected them both to enjoy it.

Decent American men wouldn't marry her—because of her money. Only men who were marrying for money would marry her. Alexis at least was honest.

She wasn't in love with him but she liked him better than any other man she knew—and at least she could get what she was paying for, she would get her part of the bargain.

And so, in May, there began in Paris those strange marriage negotiations and contracts between Barbara Hutton, her father, her lawyers and Prince Alexis Mdivani that did so much to turn us against our Dollar Princess.

Count Calls Babs 'Unfair'

(Copyright, 1934)

LONDON, July 13 (INS)—Sad and dispirited, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow unburdened himself for the first time today and in an exclusive interview declared he thought his wife, the former Barbara Hutton, had been "unfair" in bringing criminal charges against him.

The interview took place while the Count and this correspondent were walking along Piccadilly a short while after the case had been dropped in Bow street court.

"I think I did the right thing this morning in bringing the court proceedings quickly to a close," he said.

"I think it was a defeat for her."

The count said he was extremely anxious that his action should be in complete conformity with the principles of a gentleman. He made it evident that he was not going to participate in making a "public spectacle" of his marital differences in a London police court.

"Do you think the public feels I have acted in a gentlemanly way?" he asked. "I prefer to suffer any consequences rather than act in an ungentlemanly manner by dragging the case on in court."

WANTS TO SEE SON

I asked Count Haugwitz whether he intended to fight the countess' separation proceedings. He seemed distressed, perplexed and dazed and groped for his reply.

"I haven't thought anything about it yet," he said. "I really don't know what to do."

"Lance—," he mused. "I want to see him very much, but I don't know when I can. My lawyers are arranging that. It is all unclear to me."

took place before the parties met."

Despite his obscure wording, it was obvious Sir Patrick meant the count and countess had become estranged before the countess met the "gentleman in London." In other words, the attorney was endeavoring to prove that the man was not responsible for the rift in any case.

BABS PLANS DIVORCE

Although the countess decided, on the advice of friends, and her attorneys, to drop the charges, she nevertheless remained adamant in her decision that no reconciliation is possible. She is determined, it was understood, to proceed with a separation as soon as possible and to follow this with a divorce at the end of the necessary legal period under British law.

However, it was learned from sources close to Barbara that she believes the count intends to fight separation and divorce every inch of the way.

According to Danish legal experts, the count will be bound to grant his wife a separation even if he fights the divorce.

If the court considers his arguments against a divorce justifiable, it can then prolong the period of separation from 18 months to two and a half years, but if Barbara insists upon a divorce the court will be compelled to grant it ultimately.

Rivals Ride On Train With Roosevelt

ABROAD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO July 12 (AP). President Roosevelt rode today on a special train, and into Nevada, where two Democratic primary political opponents boarded his train.

Senator Dan McCarran of Nevada, seeking re-election, joined the president's party at Ogden, Utah. Albert H. Hays, opposing McCarran, planned to come on board later in the day at Carson, Nevada.

McCarran opposed the trans-Pacific coast reorganization plan and other administration measures. Hays is the son of Justice Benjamin C. Hays, and of the Colorado Supreme Court, a candidate for the Democratic nomination in Colorado.

The board when the train left Salt Lake City were Mrs. Anna Roosevelt, Bill Hays, and her husband, John Hays, Salt Lake publisher, who came by plane last night to join the train.

Two presidential platform appearances were scheduled in Utah. Nevada was there was a possibility of a stop at Reno, Nevada.

Passing on through Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, in the early morning hours, the presidential train was scheduled to stop for various purposes at Monticello, Carlin, Tonopah and Sparks, Nevada, and at Primm, Cal.

The Primm, Cal. stop will be the president's first on this trip in the western territory of Senator William C. McAdams, a downstate conservative Republican. McAdams is opposed to Senator Hoover, a Democrat of California, and will vote against a Roosevelt re-election. McAdams already has received a number of letters from Mr. Roosevelt. "Your Man" is expected to receive another presidential endorsement at the Primm stop, as the train is expected to stop at the Primm, Cal. stop.

Insurance Firms Are Under Probe

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP).—The Securities Commission, one of the key agencies in the government investigation of monopolies, started today a study into insurance companies, investment banking, and the structure and functions of business corporations.

Commissioner William C. Douglas said that as soon as the commission could organize a staff and correlate the available information, it would issue subpoenas for company records.

LAUDED BY FIEDLER

Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Symphony today had high praise for the Boston record boys who sat in the train to hear one of his summer presentations. "There's an audience that really loves music," Fiedler stated with pride.

Dodger Fan Held as Killer

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—A Brooklyn fan was charged with homicide today after a tavern dispute in which one man was killed and another critically wounded.

The fan booked as Robert Joyce, 31, a postoffice employee, was said by Assistant District Attorney Pugh to have become infuriated at taunts fellow-drinkers made to him about the Brooklyn team.

Pugh said Joyce told him he drank 14 glasses of beer before the shooting. Frank Harvey Krug, 36, an attendant with the emergency relief bureau in Albany, who was seeing his father in Brooklyn, was killed.

BARTENDER NEAR DEATH
William J. Diamond, 25, bartender son of Patrick J. Diamond, owner of the tavern and Democratic leader of the Eighth Assembly District, was so seriously wounded he may die.

Joyce told Pugh he must "have gone home," and insisted he did not remember the shooting.

As police and Pugh got the story from witnesses, Joyce was scowling and the Dodgers 13 to 2 victory over the Giants yesterday that he seemed to celebrate.

KIDDED BY OTHERS
He began drinking beer and talking to the other men at the bar, charged killing him about the last glass, when he left after seeing them he was going to shoot up, he said.

He struck a man sitting at the bar and was going home, said a man who told that Diamond.

A man, credited as Jim from Dixie and he then pulled out the knife and shot him.

Mattson Kidnap 'Solution' Fades

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 13 (INS)—A man identified as Frank Olson, 12, had as a suspect in the Mattson kidnap case, a 400-pound man, and insurance of a woman, charging him with the Mattson kidnap, is "unjustified," said William Cole of the state patrol announced today.

He has made three or four confessions and is plainly mentally incompetent," Cole said. "He has been an outcast since he was a child and the suspect for the first time since he was a child."

Stolen Seaplane Heads for Hub

A $9000 seaplane was stolen from the airport at Bangor, Me., today and reported headed for Massachusetts, piloted by two youths.

The plane is owned by John Maher of Greenwich, Ct., who arrived in Bangor yesterday with a friend for a short vacation.

A small boy told police he had seen two youths tinkering with the plane. The ship, bearing the registry number Nc. 1947, took off shortly thereafter.

The plane had an hour's fuel supply, Bangor police were told. Police here were checking airports and fields all over this state.

What? In Brookline! It Just Isn't Done!

"But THIS," said Judge F. S. Wyner, in effect today in BROOKLINE!

Attorney J. H. Brennan was arguing that the law is the same in Brookline as it is in Boston or Charlestown, and that he must bring Ruby, Coolidge's son, to court, really ought to have been worth of liquor back.

The liquor is in the cellar of Brookline police headquarters, and Ruby is at liberty pending grand jury action on a charge of keeping and consuming liquor in a place without a license. Brennan argued that that had caused a serious change in the modern community.

Maybe not, Judge Wyner said, but—

"Demoralization of weakening of moral fiber of any considerable portion of a community like Brookline," he declared, "is much more serious than it would be in a community where the weakening process already has gained headway."

"Well," gasped Brennan, "I've heard it said a state of mind such as that existed in Brookline, but this is the first time I've ever heard it publicly expressed."

Just the same, Judge Wyner announced Ruby's plea—for the seventh time this time to August 2. Ruby got his liquor back—last yet not in Brookline!

Warners Won't Film Life of Gershwin

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor International News Service
(By Wire July 12, 1933)

HOLLYWOOD, July 13—Warners have bowed out of making "The Life of George Gershwin" and Samuel Goldwyn is bowing in with Charles Rogers as supervisor.

This is the situation. Warners own some of the Gershwin song rights, but that was only a drop in the bucket. The Gershwin family asked $50,000 for the privilege of bringing George's life to the screen, and this the Warners did not accept.

Rogers, who is handling the Louella O. Parsons negotiation for the Gershwins, lunched with Jack Warner and offered to buy the song rights they control for Goldwyn. Goldwyn has a deal with the late composer's mother which is so nearly closed that it is safe to say the picture will be made late this year with Ira Gershwin writing the script.

I am very intrigued with the idea of bringing Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles back to the fold in a series of domestic comedies. These two led the procession of film stories of married life and then, for some reason, the two went their separate ways.

Now, Paramount is making a series of Boland-Ruggles pictures, something along the lines of the Jones family and Juggie Hardy.

Paul Muni, who hasn't appeared on the stage for many years, is now reading Ernst Toller's new play about Hitler with a view to playing it on Broadway. If Paul likes the Toller drama, Warners will finance the stage play for him.

Sam Goldwyn, who is now trying to sell "The Enchanted," moved heaven and earth to try and borrow Muni and when it was out of the question, bowed out of making the Vera Caspary story.

Charles in Hollywood. Sylvia Sydney must have been giving the Hollywood press a run-around, as usual, when she denied the end letter. After all, the international plans while she was here last fall either they've changed their minds, or else Sylvia was just fooling all along, because Robert Goldstein is paying Francis Lederer in a hurry to replace Sylvia's friend in the London production of "Golden Boy"—reason given that Adler is coming back here to get married.

A LINE OR TWO: Jesse James' granddaughter has been handed a contract by 20th Century-Fox, which is one good way of appealing the James heirs who have been seasawing about having his life made into a movie. . . . Norma Shearer will be in New York for the opening of "Marie Antoinette" August 13, but she'll be in town just 24 hours, flying back to start "Idiot's Delight" immediately. . . . Maybe you think the gentlemen of the squared ring aren't casting their eyes toward the movies since the success of Maxie Rosenbloom. "Rasler" Gus Sonnenberg is the latest to feel the thespian urge and he's testing for a role in "Blackwell's Island" at W.B. . . . Youthful Barbara Read, one of the "Three Smart Girls," is divorcing her artist husband and will marry Don Briggs, according to her admission. Barbara's marriage was a secret and lasted only a few weeks. Helen Twelvetrees, her divorced husband, Jack Woody and their little boy—a happy threesome on a light spot and it really looks like a reconciliation. . . . Marjorie Wilson, the life-eyed Warner beauty, goes East for personal appearances when "Boy Meets Girl" opens, that's all for today. See you tomorrow!

Television Show Tonight

America's first television theater will have its formal opening here this evening when Television Hall, 565 Commonwealth avenue, gives its initial sight-sound show.

First license to operate such a theater has just been issued to the Massachusetts Television Institute by the City of Boston, signed by Mayor Tobin.

In announcing the premiere performance tonight, President Porter Evans of the Television Institute said:

"Everybody is wondering how far television has advanced, how good the pictures are, why television has not been made available to the public.

"As the Massachusetts Television Institute is the only organization in New England having modern electronic television equipment in operating condition, we have decided that the best way to answer these questions is to actually show some television pictures."

Continuous sight-sound performances will be given from 7 to 10 p. m. daily, except Sundays, at Television Hall.

The Nation's Need—More and Better Highways

A VITALLY important part of the gigantic amount of work that must be done in America is the planning and building of transcontinental highways.

No better use can be imagined for the Federal billions now made available by the splendid recovery program.

This would be a grand and beneficial and lasting way to spend the money, to make a magnificent series of transcontinental boulevards that would transform the United States into a vast park for the public.

It would bring untold commercial advantages. It would attract tourists from all over the world. It would be a tremendous convenience for our own people and it would provide an invaluable facility for mobilization in defense.

AN EXTENSIVE SYSTEM should be planned involving as many States as possible, thus securing the support of all these States. Existing arteries should be judiciously widened and improved, adding connections and extensions to make a great network of the whole web.

Make the highways reach directly, or through secondary or many public parks, forests and points of interest as possible.

It should make the whole system develop the country into a great park. Beautify the landscape. State all sorts of new public buildings and we could have a wonderful recovery program very attractive, very enjoyable, very useful and very valuable.

The Editor Says: In Japan, the love kiss is eliminated entirely from the movies. It is not considered modest.

If this criticism is directed at the kiss as exemplified in some of the movies of today, Japan's attitude is thoroughly justified.

In fact, American censors would find good reason for eliminating most of these erotic exhibitions.

There is a type of mind, a cheap and vulgar type of mind, evident in some cinema productions which insists on the lascivious whenever opportunity offers.

Vulgarity has been repressed by pictures as a whole by the restraint of the decent elements of the public, led by the churches, but individual instances of coarseness still persist and the vulgarizing of the kiss is one of the most offensive forms.

Under the inspiration of some directors, the actor takes the actress in his arms, glues, or pretends to glue, his lips to hers and remains in that posture for an unduly protracted time, while the actress is instructed through the megaphone to give evidence of ecstatic sensations by various contortions of the body or limbs.

Thus an innocent kiss converted into a lewd and offensive gesture. The Japanese method must be adopted in some judicious form.

The directors cannot be expurgated or expunged, but the impropriety of some of their product can be and should be.

MORE WOMEN are urged to register as voters in Boston. Thousands of them, according to Election Commissioner William A. Motley, ignore elections and never cast ballots. We add our voice to that of the commissioner. Every woman who is qualified to vote should do so.

Voting is not merely a PRIVILEGE of citizenship. It is a MAJOR DUTY.

CIVILIZATION marches on good roads. Culture, commerce and the social intercourse of peace are possible only where men can get easy and rapid access to lands and markets, to the refreshing beauty of forest, desert, sea and mountain.

America has not enough roads, nor enough good roads.

Americans do not know their own country nearly well enough.

Americans do not know each other nearly well enough.

From California to Maine, from Florida to Washington we must compress distance, shorten time. We must make it easy and pleasant for every American to see with his own eyes the glory and beauty of his country, to know and treat with his far brother, to experience and understand his problems, know his human qualities, make his personal friendship.

LET THE HIGHWAYS grow and develop and expand and extend in a way to please ALL the country and ALL the people. Keep work going everywhere and enjoyable improvements developing everywhere to cause continuing satisfaction, not only in the building but in the use.

The money is now available. The need has always been. The results will be of incalculable benefit.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

IF YOU feel that you MUST go abroad, this is probably the very best year to go. For, just about the time you get out of sight of land, you will begin to discover America.

So many summer tourists are going abroad this year "in search of culture" (America is so "crude" and "new," you know), to visit famous museums, to view great paintings and perhaps put the finishing touches on a foreign language. Oh well, they will discover a lot of things!

They will discover that Europe is an armed camp, where fear is rampant, suspicion fills the very air and hatred rides high; that every word they speak must be carefully chosen, and that if they don't like anything, they had better not mention it until they return to the good old U. S. A., where they can say anything they please, any time, anywhere, without fear of finding themselves in a detention camp.

When they return home, all women will thank heaven for the sight of good-looking, clean-limbed, clean-shaven, broad-shouldered, well-groomed, hard-working American men.

What of Today, Tomorrow?

Savings, Insurance Hit by Government

Confiscation is a REALITY, as far as your personal income is concerned.

TODAY, American economic life is paralyzed by a political minority which is using taxation as a means to segregate surplus profit for a SPECIFIC political philosophy.

Confiscatory taxation affects all of the VITAL ECONOMIC ELEMENTS which feed you, your family and your future.

Carl P. Dennett, nationally known authority on taxation and chairman of the National Economy League, describes for us in this, the last of a series of articles, what the federal government is doing to YOUR LIFE INSURANCE and what confiscatory taxation means to him.

By WILLIAM MICHELFELDER

Boston Evening American Staff Writer

The United States Government controls interest rates. The present administration has ARTIFICIALLY CREATED LOW INTEREST RATES TO FINANCE ITS OWN NEEDS.

What does that mean to YOU?

First, the savings of the American people (as represented by their savings deposits) and their life insurance policies are being constantly diminished.

Carl P. Dennett, nationally famous expert on taxation and a active leader in the National Economy League, explained to us what he meant by the above:

"Before the New Deal, first-class savings institutions paid 3 1/2 per cent on deposits. TODAY SAVINGS INSTITUTIONS ARE PAYING 1 1/2 per cent to 2 1/2 per cent on savings deposits."

In other words Mr. Dennett is telling us that the interest on the savings of people of MODERATE MEANS has been decreased 37 to 50 per cent!

And he backs Carl P. Dennett it up thus:

"For example, a man who formerly had $2000 in a savings bank could get from $70 to $80 a year interest on his deposit. TODAY HE CAN GET ONLY $35 TO $50 INTEREST ON THE SAME DEPOSIT."

"THEREFORE HE MUST SAVE TODAY $3000 TO $4000 TO GET THE SAME AMOUNT OF INCOME THAT HE GOT BEFORE ON $2000."

For your information, this department learned that, of the hundreds of millions of deposits in savings institutions in the United States today, most are owned by people of moderate means.

As for our life insurance?

Points out Mr. Dennett:

"Life insurance companies are obliged to invest their new cash and the cash they receive from maturing obligations at these abnormally low rates. Consequently, they are forced to reduce their income applicable to distribution. Each distribution is done in the form of dividends to the policyholder."

"AS DIVIDENDS RECEIVED ON LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES OPERATE TO REDUCE YOUR NET PREMIUM, IT MEANS AN ULTIMATE INCREASED COST OF LIFE INSURANCE."

Once again this department borrowed in the fiscal heaps and learned there are over 60,000,000 life insurance policies outstanding.

ing, all owned by people of moderate means. We the world's United States, with a small percentage of world population, OWNS ABOUT 95 PER CENT OF LIFE INSURANCE IN THE UNIVERSE.

Mr. Dennett continued:

"TAXES RUN AS HIGH AS 60 PER CENT AND MORE ON INCOMES AND ESTATES. THIS OF COURSE IS NOT TAXATION AT ALL. IT IS CONFISCATION. IN THE CASE OF DEATH OF MEN OF SUBSTANTIAL MEANS, THE FEDERAL AND STATE GOVERNMENTS CONFISCATE IN CERTAIN INSTANCES UP TO NEARLY 50 PER CENT OF THE ESTATE."

Never before 1912 did the Federal Government spend as much as $1,000,000,000 per year. Last year, the records tell us, the present administration spent over $7,000,000,000. EVERY CENT OF WHICH WAS PAID BY THE AVERAGE AMERICAN CITIZEN. Currently there are 3,900,000 persons (excluding those on relief) now employed by the Federal, State and local governments. Keeping them on the payroll costs approximately $5,000,000,000 annually.

Said Mr. Dennett:

"We have probably seen the bottom of the present decline in stock values and a temporary change in business conditions, BUT IT CANNOT BE PERMANENT unless there is an immediate shift in government fiscal policy."

"NO MATTER HOW STRONG ANY GOVERNMENT MAY BE, IT CANNOT CONTINUE TO INCREASE EXPENDITURES AND TAXATION INDEFINITELY WITHOUT BRINGING NATIONAL DISASTER."

"Most of the taxation inflicted upon the people is HIDDEN TAXATION added to the cost of things they buy, and for that reason they are unconscious of the extent to which they are being penalized for government extravagance."

"The home owners, holders of savings deposits and life insurance policies, and THOSE WHO LIVE ON SALARIES will be the greatest sufferers if present governmental extravagance is not stopped."

"IT CAN BE STOPPED WITHOUT DEPRIVING ANY HUMAN BEING OF NECESSARY FOOD, CLOTHING AND SHELTER."

(Another TODAY and TOMORROW [article] will appear in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

Handsome Boomed By Series Crowd

CHAPTER 20

Mike was back at her old hotel job. At the familiar cigar counter, she got the brunt of the whole night business and Handsome's busted hand. She had to keep on smiling, being non-committal, saying the usual conventional things all day long.

Besides her worry over Handsome Mike had her own troubles. She had come home expecting to find Jimmie improved. But he was not. He seemed weaker.

Mike had to keep a smile for Handsome, but she had a feeling of impending doom.

Handsome's father and mother had planned to come on for the Series. But Mrs. Regan was not feeling well and, because Handsome was not going to play, they decided against the trip.

That was another disappointment for Mike.

But Handsome was so in the depths, he said he was glad they had decided to stay away.

Dr. Christian, the house physician at the Eureka, used to talk to Mike a lot during those days. It was his opinion that everybody was wrong about Handsome's hand.

"Sometimes these experts can't see the wood for the trees," he said one night as Mike waited for Handsome to meet her when she was through work. "I'd like to talk to him about it if he wouldn't mind."

"I'm sure he wouldn't," Mike said quickly.

"Come on up to my suite Handsome can meet you there," Dr. Christian suggested.

It was half an hour before Handsome came down from the lobby. In that half hour Mike had told the doctor something of her difficulties.

THE DOCTOR'S ADVICE

"I'm glad at a point where I can talk to somebody," she said.

Handsome protested vehemently about coming up to meet the doctor. "It would mean more conversation," he said.

"Besides, he wanted to talk to Mike about the hand," she said. "I've rushed him so that he was glad to escape into the elevator. For he knew a gang would be waiting for him at his room."

Dr. Christian told him at the door. "Good you came up. I expect Mike and Mike is tired. She gets tired around down there in that lobby. Everybody thinks on their feet about you."

Handsome looked at Mike. "I suppose that's so. You do look tired."

"I'm not too tired," Mike said. "I'm just a little what you call 'tired'."

"That's all right," Dr. Christian said. "I'm glad you're here. I'm glad you're here. I'm glad you're here."

Handsome walked over and stood by Mike. "I'm glad you're here. I'm glad you're here. I'm glad you're here."

"I'm glad you're here. I'm glad you're here. I'm glad you're here."

HANDSOME GETS CHANCE—Dusty Lee is sent to the showers, leaving behind 80,000 roaring fans. As Handsome leaves the home dugout, the huge crowd thunders "Boo!"

before the World Series opened between the Yanks and the Giants. His hand was much improved. He'd worked out some. Even Ace Barnes said it was better.

"Maybe I can use you as a pitcher, Latty. I don't dare start you."

"I don't," Handsome said. "I don't want to."

"You shouldn't do more than two or three innings at the most. But with that hand the way it is, a pitcher, Latty. I don't dare start you."

"I understand Ace is in touch with him. A friend of mine told me."

"They better take all their money and go down to the park and get a cup of coffee. There were fans at the home."

"The crowd was so bad Mike disappeared of ever getting to his seat. How the fans had changed! It was his first experience with the fans of sports enthusiasts."

"They're all over the place. How he'd helped and the pitcher. But that did not count now. It was all over. They were against him. She told him to get up in the second seat from the boxes."

the first ball. But when he gave the first batter a base on balls, the cheering rose again.

"Put that guy back in a revolving door," somebody shouted. "Handsone's a punk. He's been hurt. He'd show them. He'd show 'em down! The man went down again!"

The crowd roared to its feet and cheered Mike up in the grand stand continued to keep one man sitting down. The next at the top of the home run.

"Now what?" Mike was praying under her breath.

HANDSOME SHINES

The next man hit into an easy double play. The inning was over. The next which burst from the crowd was deafening. Nobody could imagine such a cheering fan. Mike just sat and took a drink.

Ace walked off the field with Handsome and Handsome was looking at him and at it was up to the home now to get some hits. And they did it to the extent of two more runs, making the score, 7 to 4.

The ninth inning they were the last from the home stands. The crowd roared to its feet and cheered Mike up in the grand stand continued to keep one man sitting down. The next at the top of the home run.

Ward 20 in the "public hearing" on Ward 1 and 10. He presented a "petition" in which he requested that the Board of Health be authorized to make a public hearing on the "petition" and make a decision on the "petition" and make a decision on the "petition".

BOHARDT, Mayor, said that the Board of Health will hold a public hearing on July 20, 1934, at 10 A. M. in the City Hall, Room 101, on the "petition" of the Board of Health, and the Board of Health will make a decision on the "petition" and make a decision on the "petition".

WINTON Massachusetts on Wednesday, July 20, 1938, about 9 30 A. M. a public hearing will be held in the office of the Board of Appeals and Zoning Commission at the City Hall, Winton, Mass., relative to the appeal of MICHAEL VERRUCCHI asking to vary the application of the Zoning law (Chapter 40A of Acts of 1924 as amended) 80C Cambridge Bay Ward 4 in the following respect: (Section 6) Permit business use that open air market with necessary stalls in a general residential district.

... W. B. M. J. A. ... to vary the application of the existing law Chapter 488, passed of 1921 as amended 550 Judson St.,
ward 5 to the following effect: "The town of ... present ... and wholesale business as a ... district."

Fullerton Faces Saints

Tonight the Rosalinda Townies and McDonoughs will go into battle at C. J. Lee grounds in South Boston. Cassara is likely to do the hurling for the Townies, while Gus Rook, Northeastern ace, will attempt to lift the Southie boys back into the win column.

Out at Fallon field, Curt Fullerton, of the Holy Name club, will make his debut in the box on the home grounds, facing the St. Augustine, who are playing the game originally billed for last Monday night.

Hyde Park, which jumped into third spot through some fine bull-ing by Charlie Dineen, will be host at Smith Pond to Dick Casey's club, at the Smith Pond reservation.

The fourth game of the evening finds the lowly St. Ambrose club, practically the only team of the 12 in the league whose playoff chances are nil, moving over to Rogers Park to engage the Brighton Clives.

UPPER CLASS, JUNGLE JIM, FATEY
RED

Upper Class	78	Art Wilton	2-1
Jungle Jim	72	Jess Williams	4-1
Fatey Red	56	F. L. Bronte	5-1
Huge Struck	62	G. Lippold, Jr.	5-1
Pepper Ball	63	Tom Baird	6-1
Roman Riddle	61	M. T. Doherty	6-1
Big Boston	60	Ken Neal, Jr.	8-1
Bob Chalk	61	E. Rhoads	8-1

The top one, an upstart, gave figures to break like a shot and round the first turn on the lead, and JUNGLE JIM, recent winner of his first race, should be forcing his FIRST RACE victory.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY
Second Half Daily Double

HELEN LARK, RED SHAMROCK,
MENTAL TEST

Lynde	48	Forme Spracer	6-1
Do H Now	58	G. H. Rogers	8-1
Portico	58	M. J. Gavan	2-1

HELEN LARK figures best of this band, due to past experience and good form shown lately. RED SHAMROCK will do the forcing, with MENTAL TEST a money possibility.

Down on the Farm

Gagnon Fights In Dilboy Ring

Richard Gagnon of Lowell, 160-pounder, will be one of the featured performers in the amateur boxing show under the direction of the Dilboy Post, V. F. W., at Dilboy Field, Somerville, tonight as another strong army of simon-pure ringmen swings into battle.

Clauses will be 115, 135, 147, 150 and heavyweight.

Featuring the heavy class will be Chuck Fendible of Charlestown and Henry Burk of Hyde Park. A final between these two suggests would be a thriller.

Jean Bauer Wins on Links

EASTERN POINT, Ct., July 13 (AP)—Jean Bauer of Providence, Griswold Cup defender, today defeated Janet Douglas of Rumson, N. J., two up, to enter the semifinal round of the 20th Essexconnet Women's Invitation tournament.

Although she never relinquished the lead after winning the first two holes, Miss Bauer was under pressure all the way. She became three up at the fifth, but Miss Douglas won the next two to cut the margin to one hole. Jean won the eighth and tenth to go three up again but Miss Douglas came back to win the 13th and 16th, to reduce her rival's advantage to one hole.

They halved the 17th and Miss Bauer won the 18th with a birdie three on a two-foot putt after her second shot hit the hole and bounced off.

Newsman Subbing For Feller

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—This open letter to Pitcher Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians:

Dear Bob:

The reporter forged your name about 500 times yesterday—not on checks, but for 500 boys' baseball fans who think you're a very great man.

It was like this:

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, invited these boys to the Cleveland-Washington game free of charge. When the nine innings were over, they all went looking for you. They wanted your autograph.

You must have got out of a side door, because they were yelling for you when I came along.

LITTLE RESEMBLANCE

"There's Bob," screamed a little two-headed fellow.

Now, Bob, I look about as much like you as Babe Ruth does, but it didn't make any difference to them. You know how it is with a crowd of boys.

"Sign my autograph book, Bob," they yelled, pinning me against the wall.

"I'm not Bob," I wailed.

"The heck you're not," they chanted.

"Sign it Bob," they pleaded.

"You're my favorite pitcher. Please, Bob."

A policeman tried to butt in, but he didn't get any farther than I did. They yelled and shouted and pushed score cards in my face.

THROUGH

So—I began to sign—"Sincerely, Bob Feller."

What else could a fellow do? I'd have to sign you down if I'd run out on them, and I'd let them down if I hadn't signed your name.

Anyhow—it was a pretty swell feeling getting mistaken for you. That's how it was, Bob.

Sincerely,

EDDY GILMORE.

Fuchs Says Politics Got Some Jobs

Judge Emil Fuchs, chairman of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, testified today that there had "probably" been political influence in "some" UCC temporary job appointments.

Fuchs, a witness before the special legislative committee investigating alleged political gift jobs in the commission, said:

"Politics always has and always will have an influence. There's often political influence in temporary job appointments. I believe there probably was some such influence in some of the jobs in the Unemployment Compensation Commission."

CHARGES PERJURY

Charges that some of the appointees "who said they were not appointed for political reasons, perjured themselves," were made by Attorney Warren Patten, counsel for the committee.

"If you can bring me competent evidence they perjured themselves they will be discharged," Fuchs replied.

Specifically, Chairman Fuchs was answering a question concerning

LONDON, July 13 (INS)—Fears that British and European royalty might be embarrassed by disclosure in open court of the identity of the mysterious "Gentleman in London" brought a sudden end today to the case of Countess Barbara Haugwitz-Reventlow against her Danish nobleman husband.

Legal circles continued to insist there was no actual justification for the count's suspicions against the unnamed "gentleman," but it was felt that airing his name in court might be misinterpreted by the public.

Guilty Plea By Cement Murderer

NORTHAMPTON, July 13 (INS)—Emotionless, steeled to an ordeal he knew was coming, John P. Bathelt, 29, who left a small city to become a New York playboy and sportsman, today was sentenced to life imprisonment for the "cement coffin" murder of his race track pal, Charles A. Morris, 41.

In cold, clear voice, the dapper young race track follower had pleaded guilty to second degree murder, bringing to a swift and dramatic close one of the most bizarre murder cases in the history of Massachusetts.

The finale came three weeks to the day from the time parts of the body of Morris were found by three girl swimmers floating in the Connecticut river near the South Hadley cottage Bathelt once occupied. The parts had been tossed from the cottage after being encased in cement in the cellar for nearly a year.

Deliberate reference by Sir Patrick Hastings, attorney for the countess, to the fact that the fundamental differences leading to the marital rift occurred before she had met the "gentleman" was understood to have been inspired by a definite intention to clear the unnamed man in European society.

Haugwitz's attorney, Norman Birkett, and the presiding magistrate, Sir Rollo Graham-Campbell, co-operated with Sir Patrick in getting the case out of court to pave the way for some sort of a private settlement not calculated to embarrass persons highly placed in European life.

Clue to decision of all parties to protect the name of the man allegedly involved was given in these words by Sir Patrick in addressing the magistrate today:

"With regard to this mysterious person, the unhappy difference between the count and his wife

Man in Ditch Puzzle to Police

Revere police today were investigating the finding of Howard Marshall, 34, Armandine street, Dorchester, unconscious and shoeless in a ditch in Tuttle street near the Revere dog track.

At Boston City Hospital, doctors said Marshall had a fractured skull and possible internal injuries.
